Canada

A career in the Canadian Armed Forces is more than just a job. It is an opportunity to make a difference in Canada and in other parts of the world. It is a chance to be a part of a history of service and a community of people dedicated to preserving peace and security.

Canadian Forces Aboriginal Programs

CANADIAN FORCES ABORIGINAL ENTRY PROGRAM

Is a special three-week program for Aboriginal Peoples who are considering a career in the Forces. During the program, you get hands-on experience with military training, careers, and lifestyle with no obligation to join the Forces. At the end of the program, you receive $1,200 for completing the program and a certificate of military achievement.

ABORIGINAL LEADERSHIP OPPORTUNITIES YEAR

(ALOY) gives you a highly positive, productive, one-year educational and leadership experience through the Royal Military College of Canada (RMC) in Kingston, Ontario. The ALOY program includes sports, field trips, leadership development, military training, cultural support activities, and individual learning plans. Through these learning plans, you take part in individual and small group tutorials for pre-university (non-credit) and first-year university courses.

The Forces offers three Summer Training Programs that combine military lifestyle with cultural awareness. These six-week long programs give you a taste of military training with the option - but no commitment - to join the Forces. The training is based on the Army Reserve Basic Military Qualification and is taught by military instructors.

Subjects include General Military Knowledge, Weapons Handling, Navigation, First Aid, Drill, and Survival Skills.

BOLD EAGLE is open to Aboriginal Peoples living in Western Canada or Northwestern Ontario. Participants will train in Wainwright, Alberta

RAVEN is the Navy's summer program for Aboriginal Peoples from across Canada. Participants train in Esquimalt, British Columbia

BLACK BEAR is an Army training program for Aboriginal Peoples from across Canada that takes place in Oromocto, New Brunswick.

Note: you can apply to and attend the Raven, Bold Eagle and Black Bear programs at age 16 provided you are in school full time.

We arrange your travel to and from the program, living accommodations, food, clothing and all equipment. While you are in the program you are temporarily a Forces member and are paid around $3,700 for completing the full six weeks.
